

General Information

Fixing the “There is no disk in the drive” Error

"Have you ever had the “There is no disk in the drive” error message pop up when using an add-on product that works with QuickBooks? It’s annoying and it can make you worry that something isn’t working right. I consider this to be a bug in QuickBooks, not the add-on products, but there are several ways to fix it."

Here is an outside website that describes the solution. Most likely a windows update and/or QuickBooks update is the culprit.

<http://www.sleeter.com/blog/2013/08/fixing-the-there-is-no-disk-in-the-drive-error/>

We do not endorse or condone anything on the above website. All content is owned by the author.

Unique solution ID: #1084

Author: Melanie Jones

Last update: 2017-05-02 23:42